

From: Charles Alexander [e-mail redacted]
Sent: Saturday, September 25, 2010 12:21 PM
To: Bilski_Guidance
Subject: Software patents

I am a software developer. Software is covered by both copyright and patent; it is unique in this regard and needn't be. Software-copyright is good enough to promote innovation. Software isn't patentable in most of the rest of the world, and shouldn't be here.