Hi, if the USPTO selects Hawaii, they will be able to retain their employees because it is such a nice place and nowhere else to patent attorney's or agents to work. Also, they give have a presence in the asia pacific rim

I would like to move over there and join up.

Also, Plano Texas would be good because we have the most software developers and real IT professionals, and electrical engineers than any other city in the county. Further, there is a new court house in Plano Texas in the Eastern District that now hears Patent cases. (also Texas instruments employs many patent attorneys here in the city)
