Dear

I would add your title but it has been trademarked. In writing to object I am appalled that you would set yourselves out to profit from registering frivolous and common place names and uses and then have the Gaul to suggest that opposing them should also cover any costs incurred defending the indefensible

Please review the entire premise for allowing capture and seizure of language by those with money to control the use of free language. Terms and sayings have been wrent from our collective use and benefit for the profit of a few. Freedom of speach but nowhere could one write it or sing it freely!

Or for that matter if your suggested fee of protest is allowed, protest either!

Kind regards

Paul
