Subject: LOP Trademark Proposed Fee

I have just been made aware that you are considering a fee of $100-200 for filing a LOP. So many frivolous trademarks are being passed through including most recently DOGS....This is absolutely crazy and at some point, everyone will own every word in the English Language. Dogs is not a unique brand or made up word that anyone would recognize as a company.

I am a t-shirt designer and these individual words are not brands, or special in any way. It limits my ability to make designs and make a living.

Charging a $100-$200 fee to the person filing the trademark is frivolous ---

We live in a free country and the burden should be places on someone trying to limit those freedoms, not on the person calling into question the legitimacy of that claim.

Please reconsider your decision to charge for filing LOP's.
