General Comment

The USPTO should accept videos of inventions as proof who made invention first, not who filed first. Large company steals the idea when they see it, but if inventors shows it first on any social media network or news, he must have the right to get the patent.