General Comment

This statement will be short. PTAB must be restrained. It has not helped our US Patent System. By now so much AI innovations have gone to China. What is it with China during the Obama Administration? It take so much effort to unwind what elected officials put into law for their own party objectives.

An entity who benefits from invalidation of a patent and pays money to a petitioner challenging that patent should be considered a privy subject to the estoppel provisions of the AIA.

Better stated. The giant corporations put their excess cash reserves (fight off potential threats) at PTAB to blow the small inventor out of the water because they may have a slightly better mouse trap.
