General Comment

It's about time these patent trolls were stopped making money out of companies who earn an honest living. These despicable companies (trolls), exist only to line their pockets with money they have never earned.

In an ideal world they would be denied this avenue, unless the patent infringes on a genuine product or service provided; which in 99% of cases it does not.

So I would like to add my voice to the list of people protesting about the U.S. Government's intent on severely limiting the process of Inter Partes reviews. Because it would take away peoples' right to prove their innocence when sued by a Patent Troll
