

PRESENTER BIOGRAPHY

Patrick Nolan

Training and Development Program Manager
Office of Patent Training (OPT)

Patrick Nolan, the Training and Development Program Manager of the Office of Patent Training (OPT), is responsible for designing instructional curriculum development training models for patent examiners and patent managers. He earned a doctorate degree in biology and a Bachelor of Science degree from George Washington University. Dr. Nolan has been employed at the USPTO since 1996 and he became a Primary Patent Examiner in 2000, while examining applications in allergy and autoimmunity diagnostics.