To whom it may concern,

I Pat Brown, a minority black, female, have had the pleasure of learning about Study of Underrepresented Classes Chasing Engineering and Science Success Act of 2018 or the SUCCESS Act. What I learned I found both fascinating and intriguing, as an Inventor, who cares about innovation and it impacts on the future generation. Still, I'm currently involved in a Patent Pending Health and Wellness Products that I have been trying to work with the Pro Bono Office in Ohio for nearly 6 months which places my patent at risk due to the fees and deadlines. I am currently working on a Final Office Action and contacted several attorney offices, for assistance with no avail. I was instructed after filing the Patent I would have to pay an additional $475 for each Office Action.

The Pro Bono Services are not hands on and I have submitted my information requested several times further running down the clock for both the fees and the deadline. I would like to know where are the local Agents are they located at our local libraries? I have requested assistance from local Cleveland, Universities Offering Pro Bono services and limited to no assistance has been available in Ohio. However, I would like to schedule a face to face presentation at your earliest convenience. I am available from 4-6pm Monday – Friday. Still, If you have any questions please feel free to email me. I am looking forward to hearing from you soon.

Regards,

Pat Brown, Inventor

Have you filed for patent or tried to locate information about filing for a patent?

Do you have suggestions for improving the process? This is your chance to make an impact.

The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) is conducting a study on the number of patents applied for and obtained by women, minorities, and veterans. As part of the study, USPTO is seeking recommendations to increase the number of women, minorities, and veterans who participate in entrepreneurship activities and apply for patents. YOUR insight and experience can influence the final report. Here's how:
