I truly believe that we are slowing down progress by making easier for big companies to monopolize on someone else's invention by simply outspending and exhausting the small inventors resources in court litigation. This country was build on many one persons idea, which transformed this nation to what it is today. If we don't bring back protections for the little guy I'm afraid so many people will sit on their dreams and not make it a reality, which in turn will tear down one of the many foundation blocks that use to make this country great.
