

Steve Ruwe

Attorney Advisor, Copyright Law and Policy
Office of Policy and International Affairs, US Patent and Trademark Office

Steve Ruwe is an attorney-advisor focused on Copyright Law and Policy at the United States Patent and Trademark Office, Office of Policy and International Affairs.

Prior to joining the United States Patent and Trademark Office, he served as assistant general counsel at the United States Copyright Office. In that capacity, he worked on a variety of copyright issues, including regulations, studies and appellate litigation relating to analysis and interpretation of copyright in the digital age. He also served as a legislative aide to Congressman Tom Davis. Prior to pursuing public service in the intellectual property policy arena, he represented authors as a literary agent.

He graduated from George Mason University School of Law.