

Wilkerson, Sean

Innovation Development Outreach & Program Specialist, United States Patent and Trademark Office

Sean Wilkerson works in the Office of Innovation Development (OID) at the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO), creating patent education programs and managing outreach services to independent inventors, small businesses, entrepreneurs, makers, and universities.

Prior to joining OID, Sean worked as an outreach coordinator for the programs leading up to the opening of the USPTO Texas Regional Office. Sean also spent a year as part of the New York engagement team that developed the 2015 Future of Urban Innovation Startups Summit in coordination with Columbia University and the USPTO. Sean served as the Program Manager from 2011 – 2013 to develop the program, structure and outreach efforts of the inaugural Select USA Summit, a U.S. government-wide program housed in the International Trade Administration at the United States Department of Commerce. As an Education Program Analyst to the Global Intellectual Property Academy, from 2008-2011, Sean managed international programs focused on providing intellectual property training related to enforcement of patents, trademarks, and copyrights and the U.S. patent and trademark system. Prior to working for the federal government, Sean served as the Director of Events for the National Association of Homebuilders in Washington, D.C. and served as the Ideas Exchange Manager for Accenture in Reston, VA.
