

Hello,

I would like to suggest the following topics:

Means for rating the Examiner:

Means to rate the Examiner by the number patents examined based on the average of all the patents application examined by all the Examiners in the art unit. If the for instance, one Examiner averages 50 patents a year, but the art unit averages 60 patents per Examiner, then the Examiner will receive a lower grade than the average based on less examined patents. If on the other hand, the average is less, say: the average is 40 patents applications examined the Examiner will receive a higher grade. The same applying to the number of patents issued; the number of patent applications going to appeal; the number of patents applications overturned in appeal.

Let the applicant rate the Examiner as well based on quality work and knowledge of the prior art, laws and rules, etc.

John Almeida

Inventor