Subject: Examination time

At least within 90 days of filing, an initial the examiners view of the application conducted by an intern's research supervised by the examiner to inform of the viability Of the application, gives the applicant view to assess the application and may withdraw it refine and re-refine.

As long as how long would it take for a final decision it all depends on the complexity of the application and no exceed 360 days.

Interns who have deep interest in innovation and research will be great help for the examiner and also creates a new generation of dedicated innovators in which is the foundation of this country and it's success.
