

From: David Vydra [e-mail redacted]
Sent: Monday, September 27, 2010 5:07 PM
To: Bilski_Guidance
Subject: Comment

As a software developer, I would like to say that most of software is developed as craft -- there is very little invention involved. Software patents should be limited to true advances in complex algorithms, everything else should be protected by copyright.

Sincerely,
David Vydra