Subject: Request for satellite office in California

There are a lot of businesses and patent work emanating from California, and I believe it would be useful for the patent office to have a presence in California for that reason. There are a lot of areas where the patent office could set up an office, which would be very accessible to the western states. For example, San Bernardino County has a low cost of living relative to Los Angeles and Orange County, and has access to a trained population in southern California.
