Hello,

Having an office in Studio City, Los Angeles would be a beneficial place to allow all or most television studios, producers, actors/actresses, inventors, contractors, writers, designers, etc a closer avenue to get his or her ideas patented a lot faster. This would also help, because the location is central to surrounding areas: Burbank, Hollywood, Universal, Valley Village, North Hollywood, etc. Thus creating an environment of creation inside this creative place. If I had the resources, I would have my own invention studio. Where all like minded people could come together in a huge area and be able to be paid to come up with ideas and patent in one place. Having this USPTO office here would be a huge step in that direction. Please consider and let me know of any forward progress on development.

God bless,
