

Untitled

From: Eureka Wang [e-mail address redacted]
Sent: Wednesday, January 11, 2012 11:57 AM
To: SatelliteOffices
Subject: Silicon Valley Satellite Office?

Hello! Congratulations on the new Detroit satellite office!

Please consider Silicon Valley as the location of one of the satellite offices. The reasons are outlined below.

(1) Silicon Valley is the hotbed of invention and is home to innovative companies in many fields including Information Technology (IT), biotechnology, pharmaceutical, green technology, and many others.

(2) There is tremendous talent: an overabundance of engineers and scientists and patent practitioners.

(3) It is diverse: people of all colors, people of all walks of life, people who do not accept the status quo, people who take risks, all decide to call Silicon Valley or the greater San Francisco Bay Area home.

(4) It is also home to many first class law schools and higher education research institutes and home to many venture capitals.

(5) This is the place where new markets are created; this is the birthplace of companies such as Apple and Genentech.

(6) This location has 3 international airports. It is closer to Asia and the Australian continent.

Thus, it will be beneficial to the United States and its economy to have a USPTO satellite office in the Silicon Valley.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Regards,
Eureka Wang, Ph.D., J.D.
(Reg. No. 50510)