Subject: Potential Locations for USPTO office

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to you to recommend Austin, Texas as a future location of a USPTO satellite office. Austin is a desirable place to live as it home to many tech companies in the state of Texas. Cost of living is very affordable along with not having state income taxes is a plus for residents. Austin prides itself on the fitness and health of its residents by having scenic parks and recreational centers the weather here is good all year long with very few to none bad weather days for work and school. I hope you will consider moving an office to Austin

Sincerely
Rishi
