Peter, I want to thank you so very much for your leadership and guidance during the development of the Multimedia Guidelines. These guidelines, I can tell you as a professional working in the media field, are greatly needed and have already served their purpose several times over.

I support the acceptance of the Distance Learning and the Digital Imaging guidelines. I would hope that the Distance Learning guidelines be viewed as a Phase One set and that immediate deliberations be started to address the many issues, i.e., asynchronous learning situation, not covered or covered in incomplete detail.

Those of us who work daily in the media trenches need these guidelines, despite what some groups might be saying in their official statements.

Again, thank you for your leadership and your support for the acceptance of the sets of guidelines under consideration by CONFU
