195 Receiver supported for movement around torso by rigid means fixed on belt
196 Means for ejecting article or moving it to accessible position
197 Receiver rotatably or swingably mounted on attaching means
198 Handgun receiver
199 Closable receiver
200 Receiver holding end of rod-like article
201 Rigid support or attaching means looped around neck or crossing shoulder
600 Flaccid attaching means looped around neck or crossing shoulder
601 Attaching means formed as part of or attached to receiver closure
602 Receiver formed as part thereof or continuation thereof attaching means
603 Receiver attached at nonend points of flaccid attaching means
604 Receiver and attaching means relatively movable
605 Detachable
606 Single attaching means crossing both shoulders and extended circumferentially of torso under arms
607 Carrier having single shoulder or neck engaged attaching means with receiver attached to terminal end of attaching means
608 Having at least three distinct attachment points between the attaching means and the receiver
609 Separate receivers attached to each end of attaching means
610 Terminal ends attached to receiver wall on opposite sides of the receiver opening
611 Terminal ends attached to frame on receiver
612 Terminal ends extending down sides of receiver
613 One terminal end attached by receiver opening and the other terminal end attached at a point spaced from the opening
614 Having particular connection between receiver and terminal end
615 Shoulder or neck engaged attaching means held in aperture in receiver wall
616 Connection via ring (e.g., O-ring; D-ring, etc.)
617 And clip
618 With rotatable locking tongue (e.g., buckle)
619 Rivet
620 Loop and hook fastener
621 Hook
622 Connection is sewn
623 Receiver held against upper chest
624 Attaching means encircles arm
625 Carrier having single shoulder or neck engaging means and attaching means extending circumferentially of torso
At least part of the engaging means is directly attached to the attaching means.

Two attaching means crossing different shoulders including rigid or semirigid support structure.

Rigid or semirigid container insert including means for adjusting receiver relative to the support structure.

Means for adjusting includes a track framework.

Parts of framework movable relative to each other.

Load distributing web extending between vertical frame members.

Knapsack supported by two upstanding, elongated members having lower ends thereof supported by torso.

And attaching means extending circumferentially of torso attaching means positioned at chest.

Attaching means is a continuation of the shoulder straps.

Attaching means segmented by receiver.

Having stabilizers connected between attaching means and receiver.

Cushioning in shoulder strap.

Adjacent receiver wall.

Specified receiver details.
