Mark Literal(s)

The mark consists of a three-dimensional configuration of the upper section of a container made up of three raised horizontal lines that curve around the mouth of the container, each ending in a flat section giving the appearance of a rounded corner between the flat and raised sections of the lines. The three flat lines end in a closed edge, forming a corner, before meeting up with a section of three separate flat lines with closed edges on either end. The broken lines depicting the bottle shape indicate placement of the mark on the goods and are not part of the mark. The stippling or vertical lines on the bottle or cap represent dimension and are not claimed as features of the mark.
